Excerpt: . . . to the building of it, and give instructions respecting the colour, and c. and I was to inform the Governor when it would be ready. When it was ready, the coach maker called on me and told me he wanted the money, and handed me the bill. I told him then, it was generally understood there was a credit of six, nine or twelve months, that people from the southward, generally had that credit. He said there was nothing stated at the time the carriage was bespoke. I think i told the Governor myself there was a credit; however, he, the oach-maker, insisted upon being paid at a certain time--without my informing the Governor, I gave my own note at sixty or ninety days, which he said would answer his purpose, as he could get it discounted at bank I think I wrote to the Governor, Stating to him that I had made the arrangement, and paid the coach-maker; I do not positively know whether it was at the time the note was due; it might have been some time after I had given the note. The Governor answered, he was notplently of money at the time, as he was laying out a great deal in furnishing his house, and in purchasing a number of articles at this time. 1 told him it made no difference, if the interest was paid. I wrote to the Governor, to that effect, but have no copy of the...
