Excerpt: . . . interests of the persons beneficially entitled to the testators estate might be ascertained and declared; that so far as might be necessary for the purposes aforesaid the testators estate might be administered by the court; and that the trustees might be ordered to pay the costs of the application and subsequent proceedings. When the summons, which had been adjourned into court, came on for hearing, it was objected that the case ought to have been commenced by a writ in an action, inasmuch as trustees could not properly be charged with wilful default by an originating summons. The case of Re Warren; Weadoii. v. Reading (76 L. T. 460; W. N. 1884-, p. 112) was referred to, where Kay, J. had held that that case bein in efect not a case of simple administration, but a proceeding for obtaining repayment after executors had divided...
